Annual LaFollette Day Saturday, June 15th

Saxton House • 204 N. State St.

3:00 p.m. Immigration Adventures with Ma and Pa. This program demonstrates the difficulties of our early immigrant ancestors as they traveled across the ocean in the 1800's. What would you pack if you were coming to Wisconsin from a different country? The many questions surrounding the hardship of travel and resettlement are covered along with the joys of discovery. The program is presented by Tom Kleist, a former elementary school teacher and auctioneer, and Sandy Fisher, former accredited education coordinator who worked at Old World Wisconsin prior to retirement. They mix humor and history into their programs.

4:30 p.m. Presentation by Norman Stockwell, current publisher of "The Progressive", the magazine that Bob and Belle LaFollette started back in 1909.

5:00 p.m. Music by the band, "The Accidentals", with Peggy Miller Steil and others.
